

Accelerate learner readiness and skill development across every plant

Keep every plant aligned with the latest SOPs, safety, and quality standards by quickly onboarding, upskilling, and retraining operators, engineers, and supervisors. Smartcat's expert-enabled AI Agents learn your terminology, compliance rules, and content standards, then automate the steps that typically happen in sequence — creation, translation, and review — so training updates can go live instantly across every market.

Sequential training workflows break under operational pressure. Manufacturing leaders trust Smartcat to deliver consistent, compliant training at global scale.

Sequential creation, translation, and localization workflows create outdated training before it's even released.

Create and localize training in parallel

When training updates move slowly and plants fall out of sync, Smartcat lets you build, translate, and adapt SOPs, safety modules, and work instructions in parallel so new SKUs, revised procedures, and line changes roll out immediately.

Deliver SOPs and instructions in every worker's language

When workers don't receive training in their native language and errors increase, Smartcat ensures operators, technicians, and supervisors get the correct version fast — speeding proficiency and reducing missteps, scrap, and safety incidents.

Keep training aligned with nonstop process changes

When nonstop process changes overwhelm teams and drive plants to create their own versions, Smartcat lets you update training once and deploy globally as specs, safety steps, or quality requirements evolve — eliminating plant-by-plant rework.

Reduce operational costs and resource strain across plants and lines

Eliminate translation fire drills

Create multilingual SOPs, work instructions, and updates instantly so training teams aren't stuck waiting on external vendors or manual formatting.

Do more without adding headcount

Automate repetitive tasks like language variants, formatting, and versioning to support more plants, lines, and launches.

Get teams ready for new system rollouts

Prepare teams for systems roll outs with accurate, localized system training that doesn't slow production.

Cut errors, scrap, and downtime

Deliver consistent, up-to-date training so operators follow the latest SOPs — reducing quality issues and rework.

“ Smartcat makes our workflow so easy — it’s pretty much set-it-and-forget-it. The platform is super valuable for our team and genuinely helpful in simplifying how we manage translations.

Ensure compliance and consistent learning experiences globally

Manufacturing teams operate under strict safety, quality, and compliance standards. But with constant process updates and distributed plants, outdated SOPs and inconsistent training create risk. Disconnected tools and sequential translation workflows lead to outdated SOPs, inconsistent WIs and audit exposure.

Smartcat removes the sequential bottleneck by turning every step parallel through agentic workflows. It unifies creation, translation, localization, and version control into a single flow, where expert-enabled AI Agents lock in approved terminology, SOP language, ISO/OSHA standards, and your quality requirements — and continuously learn from each project to reduce rework and deliver accurate, compliant, audit-ready training to every plant.
