

Launch global, on-brand campaigns across more channels, SKUs, and regions with the same team

CPG and retail brands must engage buyers constantly across multiple channels to earn attention and drive conversions. When content is produced in stages, the volume and speed required outpaces what teams and agencies can deliver. Smartcat helps marketing teams create, translate, and automate content at once, so every campaign launches on time and on brand, across every channel and market.

Sequential content workflows break under campaign and market pressure. Smartcat is trusted by leading CPG and retail brands to deliver multilingual content at scale.

Sequential creation, translation, and localization workflows create outdated content before it's even released. Smartcat helps you get ahead.

Create and localize content in parallel

Too many steps in global marketing content workflows still happen one at a time, making it hard to keep materials accurate and consistent as campaigns launch and change. Create, translate, and localize campaigns at the same time so every region launches together, not weeks behind.

Protect brand consistency everywhere

Keep every market aligned by applying approved brand voice and terminology automatically. Smartcat's AI Agents learn from every edit and reduce rework with every campaign, no matter how many products or regions you're launching in.

One global content orchestrator, seamless integration

Coordinate global campaigns by integrating Smartcat into the tools your teams already use (PIM, Design tool, CRM, etc.), eliminating handoffs that slow launches.

Scale campaign output and reduce content production costs without scaling headcount

Increase campaign velocity – stay ahead of the market

Stop the cycle of new campaigns launching while regions are still finalizing outdated assets. Create once and activate across markets so regions receive launch-ready content on time.

Do more without increasing headcount

Content demands keep rising while budgets and team size do not. Create, translate, and automate content with AI Agents so teams handle global volume without added headcount.

Activate omnichannel content at speed

Move fast when each campaign requires 10+ versions across 5+ channels and language, with AI Agents that automate content adaptation across markets and channels.

Reduce risk and regain brand control

Apply governance automatically with AI Agents trained on your brand and compliance standards, bringing human expertise in when needed.

“ Since adopting Smartcat, we’ve essentially replaced an entire translation agency with a global content operations solution. Smartcat lets us manage everything in-house. ”
